President & CEO

This has been another incredible year for the Atlanta Community Food Bank. Looking back, I am more inspired than ever by the energy and engagement in our community to help end hunger. Our donors and volunteers generously supported our work with even more of their time and treasure. Our partner agencies helped more of their hungry neighbors with compassion and dedication. Our team of food bankers worked tirelessly every day to expand access to nutritious food for those who need it. Each year presents new challenges and opportunities to make progress toward ending hunger in our region. Last year, thanks to your generous support, the Food Bank answered the call.

This past year we distributed enough food to provide more than 61 million meals throughout our 29-county service area. Importantly, fresh produce, meats and proteins, and other perishable foods accounted for more than 40% of the food we provided to families, as we continue to advance our efforts to provide more of the healthy and nutritious foods people need. Our team found new ways to fulfill our mission more efficiently and effectively. We built and grew partnerships. We expanded community programs and outreach efforts. We engaged more of the community in our work. All of this helped us provide more food to more people more frequently and more efficiently.

Despite this progress, and despite the ongoing strength in our economy, too many of our neighbors continue to experience hunger and food insecurity. We are more committed than ever to dramatically grow our work, so that all people have access to the nutritious meals they need. We took a big step forward into that future this year, by launching "Growing Healthy Futures," our capital campaign to support the construction of our new home. This will allow us to source and distribute more food more efficiently and quickly distribute it to more of our neighbors who struggle with food insecurity. Our new facility will more than double our existing warehouse space and, more importantly, increase our capacity to handle more of those fresh foods and produce that are so important to building healthy lives.

Whether we are creating deeper connections within the community or creating greater access to nutritious food, we are incredibly proud of what we accomplish with your support. You can witness the impact of your generosity in the stories of the people we serve, people like Bruce (page 5) and Sarah (page 7), folks who are doing everything they can to provide enough food for themselves and their families. But sometimes they need help – help that we provide because of you. They are representative of the nearly 755,000 Georgians in our service area who rely on your support for the Food Bank every day. They are counting on all of us and I am grateful that I can count on you for your continued support. Together, we can end hunger.

A Record Year for Food Distribution

This year, we distributed over 61 million meals worth of food to our 29-county service area. For the sixth year running, fresh produce was the Food Bank's largest category of food distributed. Meat/Protein also saw an increase from the year before, up 17.3%. We also were able to recover over 25 million pounds of food from 498 retail stores throughout the service area.

Serving More Seniors

The Food Bank helps seniors live with dignity, by alleviating the tough choice between paying their utility bills or buying groceries. Our senior-focused programs continue to grow. Through the Commodity Supplemental Food Program (CSFP), the Food Bank currently works with 85 agencies that collectively distribute 4,727 CSFP food boxes monthly in 22 counties. This provides 137,870 senior meals monthly and a total of 1.7 million meals yearly.

We also offer cooking classes to seniors who receive CSFP boxes through a Food Bank partner agency. In FY 2017-2018, our licensed dieticians taught 560 seniors how to make healthy, delicious meals utilizing the pantry staples given to them in their boxes.

Additionally, our Senior Farmers Market Program provides fresh, nutritious produce to low-income seniors 60 years or older. Participants receive two $10.00 vouchers to buy eligible foods from markets. The Atlanta Community Food Bank currently distributes these vouchers in ten counties.

I'm here to get food today because we're swimming underwater in our mortgage. I live with my 90-yearold mother and help take care of her. My father has passed, but it's when he got sick that finances got really tough. He didn't have health insurance, so we had to re-mortgage the house to pay for his treatment. Now we can barely make ends meet.

I'm 60 years old. For years, I owned a moving business and worked hard. All that activity wore my hips to the bone though. Now I'm disabled and can't work. My mother and I survive on social security and disability. It's not enough.

I don't know how we would eat without this food pantry. I come here twice a month to get what we need. It's just wonderful here. I appreciate the meat the most. Meat is too expensive for us to buy, so coming here is a treat.

This pantry helps us survive. It helps a lot of people survive, because there are so many people who need it. This community is grateful for all its help.

Connections Through Education

The Food Bank's Education and Outreach team works hard to deepen the understanding of hunger and poverty in our community by educating both students and adults with creative programs.

Highlights of their efforts include:

- Deploying our Learn and Serve program with the Atlanta Police Academy's new recruits and multiple regional teams among Sysco's family of brands.
- Holding two Youth Summits over the summer, which engaged 42 high school students from 25 different public and private schools in the metro Atlanta area. Each student committed to a minimum of one action step to address hunger over the course of the school year.
- Hosting our second Alternative Spring Break with 15 students from area colleges and universities. Students spent time doing advocacy, education and service.

These programs result in more advocates, volunteers and supporters in our efforts to end hunger.

Helping Children Start the Day Off Right

40% of the children taking part in existing school-provided meal programs do not start the day with breakfast. In February 2018, our Child Nutrition team started working with school districts in Gwinnett, Floyd and Cherokee counties, as well as Marietta City schools, to encourage more students to take advantage of school breakfast. We continue to pursue opportunities in other counties. Whether it's a grab-and-go cart packed with breakfast that greets them at the door as they arrive or a second chance breakfast offered later in the morning, we work to remove barriers keeping students from eating. Across 20 schools, 44,201 additional breakfasts have been served.

1 in 5 children lives in a food insecure environment.

This past fiscal year we continued our Summer Meals program which helps provide meals to kids while they're out of school. Our partners served 41,359 summer meals across our service area. We also implemented 33 combination pantry/summer meals sites. These allowed school food pantries to continue through the summer, making it more convenient for families to access the nutrition they need even when school is not in session.

Sarah's Story

I work full time, Monday through Friday, as a babysitter for two kids. I also care for my own son, who is an adult but developmentally disabled, and my seven-year-old niece. My sister isn't stable. It's not fair to put a little girl through that, so even though I don't have any extra money, I offered to help.

The summer is hard on us. During school my niece gets free lunch, but in the summer I have to pay for it. Sometimes I can't afford it – but I just have to make it work somehow, you know? Sometimes I have to put something aside, a bill or such, just to make ends meet. It makes me feel sad, but I have to keep going.

When I really have nothing, I ask this food pantry for help. They are nice here, and they never turn me away because they know when I ask, I really need it for my family. The pantry does so much for many people in this community. There are lots of people out there like me, who are really struggling and can't feed their kids.

Even though it's hard, I know things will get easier —as long as I walk by faith and keep taking care of my family and doing the right thing. You gotta have faith these days. It's the only thing that will carry us through. These are hard times, but there are better times ahead.

Partnering to Reduce Food Waste

This year, the Food Bank and Second Helpings Atlanta officially formed a partnership to help reduce retail food waste in Metro Atlanta.

Under this partnership, the Food Bank will refer companies that are interested in donating perishable food in smaller quantities to Second Helpings. Second Helpings then will develop the logistics to pick up the donated food and food-related products and will deliver the items directly to Food Bank partner agencies.

The benefits for the Food Bank and our partner agencies have been incredible. Partner agencies receive more prepared foods with greater frequency from Second Helpings' contributors, while the Food Bank enables more meal distribution without additional warehousing and handling.

We have been working closely to identify new food recovery opportunities and are developing plans to test, refine and implement better approaches to reduce hunger in the Atlanta area.

Industries Compete to Fight Hunger

Everyone loves some good, healthy competition, especially when it helps end hunger in our community at the same time! Thanks to our fantastic industry-based food and fund drives, enough food and funds were raised to help provide more than 1.7 million meals!

Legal Food Frenzy $288,415 Raised 127 Teams

The Georgia Legal Food Frenzy is a two-week food and fund drive competition done in partnership with the Georgia Attorney General, the State Bar and Young Lawyers Division, and the Georgia Food Bank Association.

Georgia Accounting Food Fight $103,832 Raised 34 Teams

TAG Bytes for Bites $32,192 Raised 17 Teams

Building Capacity For Our Partners

To reach more people in need, the Atlanta Community Food Bank recognizes the importance of investing in our partner agency network. Thanks to our generous donors, in FY 2017-2018, 12 partner agencies were each awarded a capacity building grant to purchase various warehouse equipment, vehicles, walk-in coolers and freezers. The grants enable local feeding programs to expand their capacity to serve more food to people in need.

30 Years of Partnership

The Atlanta Apartment
Association celebrated 30 years of giving back to the community through their annual Food-AThon. More than 30 different multi-family housing companies came together to raise more than 1.3 million dollars and almost 120,000 pounds of food in their 2017 campaign. Their annual parade culminates months of conducting food drives, bake sales, parties and other inventive ways to support the Food Bank.

For thirty years, the Association and its members have been passionate leaders in the fight against hunger. Virginia Love, co-chair of the Association's Community Service Committee, shared: "Hunger in metro Atlanta is a cause close to our hearts, and we're grateful for the support of our members and residents for Food-a-Thon that allowed us to reach our goal and give back to families affected by hunger in our local communities."

Engaging their residents, employees and partners, the Atlanta Apartment Association demonstrates the very best in the power of community, the impact we can have when we work together for our neighbors in need. Atlanta Apartment Association members have an unwavering commitment to the growth and vision of the future of metro Atlanta and work hard to ensure that no one goes hungry.

Responding to Disaster

In September 2017, Hurricanes Irma and Harvey hit the United States and our community sprang into action. With the generous support of Kroger, Hand in Hand, PepsiCo and donors like you, we were able to collect 30,000 pounds of food, water and cleaning supplies in just 10 days, send aid to our sister food banks directly affected, open emergency mobile pantries in metro Atlanta and deploy staff to help fellow food bankers in Texas.

Many Ways to Make a Difference

In FY 2017/2018, 27,380 volunteers gave 81,498 hours of their time. You also can make a difference with us at one of our many volunteer opportunities.

Product Rescue Center Kids In Need Grocery Floor Community Gardens And More!

Volunteering for the Community – Meet Linda

Love cooking and eating well -- and don't mind kitchen clean-up? That fits the bill for volunteer Linda Rambo. Every week, you can find Linda assisting Food Bank dietitians as they hold nutrition education and hands-on cooking classes in our Learning Kitchen.

"We have wonderful seniors that come into the kitchen, we try to teach them healthy eating and healthy cooking and they teach me something new every day."

Linda helps seniors learn to eat healthier on a budget and gain confidence to try new and easy-to-follow recipes. When asked why she volunteers with the Food Bank, Linda said, "Simply because it's such a basic thing for food. People can't succeed in their lives unless they have food."

Thank you for your support!
